Built on a laddertype frame, the Pathfinder was Nissan s response to the Chevrolet Blazer, Ford Bronco II, Jeep Cherokee, and nonAmerican SUVs like the Toyota 4Runner, Honda Passport, and the Isuzu MU.Its optional 4WD system that could be engaged electronically while the vehicle was moving, unique at the time, and a four-speed automatic transmission. All WD21 Pathfinders were available in both 2WD and manually engaged 4WD configurations, with base models installed with a 2.4 L four cylinder engine. In certain countries this generation also came with a 2.7 L I4 Diesel Engine known as the TD27 with the option of a turbocharger installed later in November 1988. The two door version was installed with the VG30E Nissan V6, that was shared with the Fairlady ZX. Ownership costs to Japanese drivers are expensive due to the exterior dimensions exceeding dimension regulations and the engine displacement incurring a higher annual road tax obligation. To emphasize this marketing approach, the Terrano was available with options not normally found on other budget-minded vehicles. Some of the upmarket Japanese model options were climate-controlled air conditioning, electrically powered windows, seats, door locks, and, in 1993, Recaro seats. At its introduction to North America, 1985 to 1989 Pathfinders came with a two-door body. In early 1990 it became only a four-door. Some US 1990 Pathfinders came with the two-door body, but they are rare. This design tradition was used on all Nissan SUVs, including the Nissan Armada, Nissan Juke, Nissan Terrano II, and the Nissan Xterra. The front doors were slightly shortened to accommodate the rear doors. In 1990 the V6 received an upgrade from throttle body injection to a multi-point fuel injection system. This engine was known as the VG30E, and was rated at 153 hp 114 kW and 180 lbft 244 Nm torque. Also in 1990, the Z24i was replaced with the KA24E. The first generation continued until 1995.

The front grille was revised, numerous interior trim level options became available and numerous exterior packages were offered by dealerships. The 1993 models received a third brake light and the 1994 models received a curved dashboard. Two more facelifts occurred for Indonesian production Terrano in 1997 and 2003, this facelift made the exterior and interior look more modern unlike the global version of first generation Pathfinder. The engine was upgraded to the VG33E, with 168 hp 125 kW and 196 lbft 266 Nm torque. For the 1999 model year, the Pathfinder was freshened. In 2000, model year 2001 brought a new 240 hp 179 kW V6 engine for the Automatic transmission models. The Manual transmission models boasted 250 hp 186 kW and 240 lbft of torque. This engine was the VQ35DE. The 4 cylinder engine option was no longer available. The market position held by the Terrano in Japan was replaced by the Nissan Murano in 2002. The Japanese market Terrano and high luxury content Terrano Regulus saw demand drop significantly due to the hard economic times felt in Japan, known as the Lost Decade. Nissan offered a smaller, offroad vehicle to its Japanese customer base who enjoyed the Pathfinder when it introduced the Nissan XTrail in 2000. Another facelift occurred in 2002, when the updated Nissan logo was added and received a revised grille versus the 1999. In 2003, the Pathfinder again received a new steering wheel. It was released following Acura's introduction of the SLX and Lexus's larger LX 450. The QX4 was Infiniti's first entry into the SUV market segment. Major differences between these vehicles and the Pathfinder include a more upscale interior, and unique styling. Marketed as a luxury vehicle, The Terrano Regulus offered offroad capability with a low-range four-wheel drive system and 8.3 inches 211 mm of ground clearance. The displacement went from 3.3 L to 3.5 L.

The timing belt was replaced with a timing chain and the ignition distributor was replaced with an individual coil ignition system. In Japan, the Terrano Regulus trim package was no longer offered. Also, a rear-wheel drive QX4 model was added 1997 through 2000 were only available in 4WD. The QX4 shared Nissan's Intelligent Cruise Control with Infiniti's flagship Q45 sedan. Employing laser sensors, the system was designed to automatically speed or slow the QX4 to keep it a constant distance from cars ahead. The optional rear seat video entertainment system offered a choice of VCR or DVD player. A power moonroof that came standard. At the 2004 North American International Auto Show, Nissan unveiled a completely redesigned Pathfinder for the 2005 model year. The new R51 Pathfinder uses the Nissan F-Alpha platform, thus returning to a body on frame construction. Some of the badge positions on the rear liftgate were tweaked, and this version also received the Titans 5.6 liter V8 engine rated at 310 hp 231 kW and 388 lbft 526 Nm. A version of the engine with a diesel particulate filter DPF is also available in certain markets. Changes at the front include a new bonnet, revised grille and a new bumper assembly. Adding 80 mm to the length of both models, the bumper is more rounded and lends a more sporting touch to the cars. Headlamps washers now pop up from beneath body color moulding in the bumpers. A new 18 inch 460 mm alloy wheel complements the existing range of 16 inch steel and alloy and 17 inch alloy designs. V8 models are given a discreet V8 badge at the leading edge of both front doors and a new side moulding across the doors. Just like the second generation Pathfinder, it once again moved away from a body on frame, truck based SUV and adopted a unibody design. It rides on the same platform as the Infiniti QX60, Altima, Maxima, Murano and Quest. This generation Pathfinder has an interior similar to the second generation Murano, the Infiniti QX60, and some more SUVs and sedans.

The third row has more leg room than the Nissan Rogue. Retail availability was scheduled for September 2012. The new Pathfinder is only available with a VQ35DE 3.5 Liter V6 engine producing 260 hp 194 kW and 240 lbft 325 Nm of torque. City, highway and combined average fuel economy numbers are 20 City, 26 Highway and 22 Combined mpg for the FWD version and 19 City, 25 Highway and 21 Combined mpg for the 4WD version. The Pathfinder is now significantly lighter than the previous generation, with the FWD model weighing 4149 pounds, while the 4WD Pathfinder weighs 4290 pounds. As of 2015 the R52 series is only available in North America, Africa, Australia, New Zealand, South Korea and the Middle East. It has not been scheduled to go on sale in Japan, nor is it assembled there. The Liion battery fits under the 3rd row seat, with no effect on space used for cargo or passengers. Restyled taillights will be standard on Platinum trim levels, and all 2017 Pathfinders will also have new exterior colors added. The interior also has redesigned cup holders. A Motion Activated Liftgate is also now standard on SL and Platinum trim levels only as part of the power liftgate. The 2017 model year is also its 30th anniversary for the Nissan Pathfinder but there wont be any 30th anniversary special edition model for the 2017 Pathfinder. But the Nissan Pathfinder will have a Midnight Edition trim level which will be higher than the Platinum trim level for its base MSRP and arrive in early 2017 and the Nissan Altima, Sentra, Murano, Maxima and Rogue will also the Midnight Edition trim level added to their trim lineup in early 2017. The appearance package is only available on the SV and SL trim levels. Retrieved 15 July 2015. Retrieved 3 June 2014. CS1 maint archived copy as title link Retrieved 15 July 2015. The 4x4 trans is a little over 4 qts, so I would think the 2wd is similar. If the fill plug wont come out, remove the inner shifter boot, and then the shifter assembly, flange and all. Pour it in from there until it is level with the fill plug. The car50 Pathfinders use the same transmission, transfer case, and differentials as the WD21, so lube specifications for those will be the same. I do not have the information available for the rest, however. The commonly known TSB for the WD21 manual transmission was fixed at the factory when the R50 was introduced. Nothing fancy, just the basics. Please, feel free to add to the list. Worked great. Of course, make sure you are turning it the right direction I also used a hose and blew air into the fill plug hole and had a helper check if air came out the breather tube that is run into the engine compartment. Please discard all paper copies of NTB97009. A countermeasure transmission case is available to resolve this incident. SERVICE

PROCEDURE 1. Verify the incident occurs under the driving conditions described above. 2. If the noise is verified, disassemble the transmission. 3. Replace the counter and main gears with new parts.

When installing the transmission case, note the following changes to the transmission case and fluid levels. CAUTION When installing the subgear and counter gear, make sure they are correctly aligned. I cleaned it once a few years ago and the whole transmission is covered again. It is always wet, but never have any drips in my driveway. That's one reason I just found out about and checked to make sure the breather tube was clear. I will be measuring how much comes out, then I am only going to fill it to the fill hole, if that. Then I will run it for a little bit checking for leaks before attempting to overfill it. I wish it was easier to get the shiftier and boot off without messing up the carpet because I would like to suck out as much of the old oil as I can. Any idea which angle the truck could be jacked up to drain the most amount of oil? Raise the rear to get more out. Shop at CarStuff or Call Toll Free to order.
